UEFA Equipment Regulations (Edition 2022)

Dear Sir or Madam,

At its meeting on 10 May 2022, the UEFA Executive Committee approved the new UEFA Equipment Regulations (Edition 2022), enclosed to this circular letter, which replace the UEFA Equipment Regulations (Edition 2021).

The main changes are outlined below:

Article 4.01: Definition of terms, Sponsor advertising

The definition of sponsor advertising was updated to clarify two aspects. Firstly, the reference to "third party" was removed as it was causing some confusion as to which products were permitted in terms of sponsoring organisations. Furthermore, the new definition strengthens the fact that a sponsor advertisement must be on behalf of a single party, making it therefore even clearer that co-branded products/services are not permitted.

Article 4.01: Definition of terms, Charity logo

Clarification of what type of displays are permitted on behalf of a charity organisation.

Article 10.08: Numbers

Numbers may now be divided into up to four parts instead of three as previously allowed.

Article 14.03 b: Team emblem

Additional position of the team emblem allowed on the front waist edge of the short.

Article 28.04: Sleeve sponsor

Clubs are no longer required to display the same sleeve sponsor used domestically in UEFA club competitions. In order to align with the front of shirt sponsor rule, clubs are now permitted to display any shirt sponsor used in an official domestic competition on the left sleeve of the playing attire shirt in the sleeve 'free zone' (subject to the applicable advertising restrictions stipulated in Article 27).

Article 42.01 f. paragraphs iv: Goalkeeper gloves

Increase from two to three on number of manufacturer identifications allowed on goalkeeper gloves.

Article 42.01 f. paragraphs vi: Goalkeeper gloves

This new paragraph aims to clarify and ensure goalkeeper glove safety already in place for club competitions.

Additional changes

- Further minor clarifications to provisions already in place.

Yours faithfully,

U E F A

Theodore Theodoridis
General Secretary
